Bio

Hailed as "The Queen of Crypto" by her followers and peers, Najah Roberts made a name for herself as the founder of the first Black-owned cryptocurrency education resource and exchange in the country, Crypto Blockchain Plug.

With over 20 years as an entrepreneur, motivational speaker, and community leader, Najah strives to help others build generational wealth through digital assets and proper education. To help empower more communities she created The Digital Financial Revolution Tour, where she travels annually to under privileged cities across the U.S., delivering knowledge through keynote talks about financial preparedness and economic progression.

Najah built a global influence by becoming a popular figure on Clubhouse, and her Crypto insight and expertise has been sought out by numerous major media outlets including Fox, NBC News, CNBC, and KTLA. She now hosts her own show, "Ahead of The Crypto Curve" on the nationally syndicated KBLA Talk 1580.
